Destination university information

Brief overview	Columbia university is situated on Manhattan Island, New York and is a leading institution in the fields of international business and finance & U.N. and development related fields.	LKY-SPP gives students the opportunity to study alongside other exchange students from across South-East Asia and beyond.	The University of California's leading specialist graduate school focussing on U.S.-Pacific (Asian) relations in the context of international relations. It has become one of the top ten ranked graduate schools in the Foreign Policy journal in the just under twenty years since its founding and has an interdisciplinary curriculum including international relations, public policy, and management.	Sciences Po is a Grandes Écoles, a unique French system of higher education specifically created by the government in order to educate the countries brightest students. Of the nine schools that make up Sciences Po, Paris is the oldest and has produced many of the past French Presidents and focuses primarily on educating the next generation of elite public servants. Sciences Po offers English only degrees in their MPA (Master of Public Affairs) and MBA courses on top of the 12 courses offered only in French. Students undertaking classes in the MPA (as most GraSPP students will) that have professional experience and a knowledge of French are most welcome.	Founded by the Hertie Foundation in 2003 the Hertie School of Governance is Germany's first professional school of public policy. It was commended by the Berlin government in 2005 for being an institution of exceptionally high caliber.	Established in 1946 as the first national university of Republic of Korea, Seoul National University has 16 undergraduate faculties, 1 graduate school and 6 professional graduate schools. It is ranked 12th in Asia and 3rd in Korea on the Times Higher Education's "World University Rankings 2010-2011". The Graduate School of International Studies (GSIS) was set up in 1997 with the objective to nurture multidisciplinary, international researchers in the fields of humanities, social sciences, management and politics.	The Peking University was established in 1989 as China's first national university and has since nurtured many political academics and research scientists as the nation's top institution of higher education. Designated as one of the national emphasised university, it is ranked 5th in Asia and the top university in China by the Times Higher Education's "World University Rankings 2010-2011". The School of International Studies (SIS) was set up in 1966, shortly after the establishment of its parent department, the Department of Political Science, in 1960. The SIS has also an academic partnership with the London School of Economics(LSE) and is offering lessons in English conducted by LSE academic staff.

Objectives and conditions of the exchange	①This exchange program is for students enrolled in the Graduate School for Public Policy; however, students who will be enrolling in GraSPP in the coming academic year may also apply. Furthermore, this program is strictly for those who already have a fundamental grasp of academic concepts and theories pertaining to their studies and who also have a high proficiency in English and who also wish to use those skills to study in a different academic environment to that of the University of Tokyo. It is therefore NOT to be viewed as just an opportunity to improve one's English. Students should bear this in mind when considering an application. The main prerequisites for application are a score of 250 or higher on the computer based TOEFL examination (minimum of 213 for Sciences Po and 230 for all other institutions) and a fundamental understanding of both micro and macroeconomics as evidenced by the successful completion of the relevant courses in either the student's undergraduate or graduate degrees. Note that the latter prerequisite is also a requirement for graduating from GraSPP. ②Even upon meeting all of the above requirements, if the destination university decides that the applicant must take supplemental classes to meet their minimum requirements, not only will the applicant be obliged to enrol in all such classes but they must also pay for all related expenses. ③Entry procedures at the destination university, visa applications, accommodation, application for credit transfers, and all other procedures and preparations relating to the exchange are the sole responsibility of the applicant. ④All other costs incurred that are not directly related to the exchange are the sole responsibility of the applicant.

Status at destination university and tuition fees	This exchange program allows students to study abroad at one of the partner universities whilst maintaining the status of 'exchange' at the University of Tokyo. A special, non-degree audit student status will be applied at the destination university. As stated above, tuition fees are only payable to the University of Tokyo and not to the destination university. If a student goes on exchange to another university whilst on a 'leave of absence' from the University of Tokyo, they will also be exempt from tuition fees. However, such students will not be permitted to transfer any credits from courses taken on exchange and the time spent on exchange will not be counted towards their degree.
Credit transfers	A double degree program is in place with LKY-SPP. Credit transfers are to be applied for by the returning exchange students after their arrival back at the University of Tokyo. Class content, class time, and credits received at the destination university will all be considered when deciding upon the transfer of credits. Please be aware that not all credits applied for will be transferred. Students should schedule their exchange bearing in mind their graduation requirements. It is strongly advised that students, upon deciding which courses that they will enrol in at the destination university, verify whether or not credits for such courses can be transferred before their departure. At present, credit transfers for some Basic, Topics, and Establishment courses are possible.

Costs	As stated above, tuition fees are to be paid to the University of Tokyo and are not required to be paid at the destination university. However, all accommodation, living and insurance fees, et cetera, that are incurred during the exchange period are the sole responsibility of the applicant. It is strongly recommended that students investigate the associated costs of their exchange as accommodation and living costs vary greatly between locations.
