

Course Registration

You should register your courses online using the UTAS system on the internet. You will need a user ID and password to log onto UTAS. These are noted in the "Password Notice" which was distributed after the enrollment procedures period.

Course registration through ITC-LMS or bookmarking syllabus on UTAS is different from "Course Registration" on UTAS. To earn credits, you must register course through UTAS.

Please be sure to meet the deadlines. Any procedure cannot be made outside of the period.

Registration period / Registration Correction period

Log onto UTAS to register your courses during registration period. If necessary, you can add, change and remove courses during registration correction period. You CANNOT add, change or remove courses after the period below.

Class will start before the registration period. Please refer to Academic Calendar AY2022. Regarding intensive courses, class schedule will be announced via UTAS syllabus or GraSPP students bulletin board webpage.

Notes

(1) Registration for "Research Paper", "Thesis", and "Internship" will be done by GraSPP Office. (Your registration via UTAS is unnecessary.)

Further information for "Research Paper" and "Thesis" including registration procedure, writing requirements and schedule will be announced via GraSPP students bulletin board webpage.

Internship applications are accepted as needed. Details on application procedures will be announced via Current Students webpage.

- (2) You can withdraw intensive courses by the end of the 1st class day. If you need to deregister after registration correction period, please notify GraSPP Office by email. Deregister through UTAS is not available. If there is any specific announcement given by the faculty of the course regarding withdrawal such as in the syllabus, such announcement will override the rule mentioned above. If intensive courses are offered from other faculties or schools, the rules at such faculties or schools will be prioritized.
- (3) If you find any course unable to register via UTAS, please first check the syllabus or with the respective graduate school administrative offices on your eligibility to take those courses, then contact GraSPP Office within the registration period or registration correction period.
- (4) Some courses at GraSPP are also offered at other faculties and graduate schools. Please make sure to register courses with course code starting with “51”, which indicates courses offered at GraSPP.
- (5) Some courses are offered both at master's program and doctoral program. Please note that course code starting with “517” are for doctoral program course.
- (6) You cannot register two or more courses offered on same schedule, even if courses are conducted online or on-demand format.

[[IMPORTANT] Maximum Number of Credits

Maximum number of credits that students can register in one academic year* is 38 to encourage well-planned study.

The number of credits are counted after the correction period. However, credits for Research Paper, Thesis and Internship which registration is done outside of the registration period will also be included. Please note that courses you received the grade “M” or “F” in previous semester will not be excluded. It will be counted as part of the maximum number of credits.

Autumn enrolled students: academic year will be counted from September.

Caution: Registration of Courses with Other Faculties and Graduate Schools

Students in their final semester of studies should not take courses from other faculties or graduate schools as part of your credits required for completion. Those credits are NOT counted as required credits for completion. As the grade reporting period differ amongst faculties/graduate schools, there is a possibility that you will not be able to receive grades before the completion assessment period.

You cannot take courses for those case studies of Faculty of Law which are not joint curricular courses with GraSPP.

Information: Courses for “Research Paper” and “Thesis”

In AY2022/2023, GraSPP will offer three courses to strengthen English writing skills, presentation skills and effective delivery of works.

Students, especially those who are willing to submit either Research Paper or Thesis or those who seek to enroll in a PhD program, are advised to consider taking the course(s) below.
