

GRADUATE SCHOOL OF PUBLIC POLICY OVERSEAS DOUBLE DEGREE PROGRAMS

AY2019 Application Guidelines

Objectives and Conditions of the exchange

- 1) This Double Degree program is for full-time students enrolled in the Graduate School of Public Policy; however, students who will be enrolling in GraSPP in the coming academic year may also apply. Furthermore, this program is strictly for those who already have a fundamental grasp of academic concepts and theories pertaining to their studies, also have high proficiency in English as well as who to use those skills to study and obtain a degree in a different academic environment to that of the University of Tokyo. It is therefore NOT to be viewed as just an opportunity to improve one's English. Students should bear this in mind when considering to apply. The main prerequisites for application are a score of iBT 100 or higher on TOEFL examination (minimum of 107 for LSE) and a fundamental understanding of both micro and macroeconomic, and/or basic economics and mathematics as evidenced by the successful completion of the relevant courses in either the student's undergraduate or graduate degrees. Note that the latter prerequisite is also a requirement for graduating from GraSPP (MPP/IP).
- 2) Even upon meeting all of the above requirements, if the destination university decides that the applicant must take supplemental classes to meet their minimum requirements, she/he will be obliged to enroll in all such classes at his/her expenses.
- 3) There will be screening from the destination universities committee, therefore it does not mean all GraSPP nomination will be accepted by the destination universities.
- 4) After being selected and nominated to the destination university by GraSPP, it is basically the sole responsibility for each of the applicant to manage the destination university's application, entry procedures, visa applications, accommodation, application for credit transfers, and all other procedures and preparations relating to the double degree program.

Academic Prerequisites

By the time of dispatching, it is preferable that students have taken the following courses: Micro for Public Policy or Microeconomics, and Macro for Public Policy or Macroeconomics, and Statistics even if it is not necessarily required by the destination University.

Status at Destination University and Tuition Fees

- This Double Degree program allows students to study abroad at one of the six partner universities. Their status at the destination university will be a "full-time degree student," whilst they will be on 'study abroad' at the University of Tokyo.
- Students will receive two university degrees if they can fulfill all the requirements of both universities.
- Tuition fees during the period of study abroad is payable to the destination university and is exempted at the University of Tokyo in the school term of Autumn 2019 and Spring 2020.

ANU does not apply; tuition fees is payable only to the University of Tokyo for the period of study abroad

Credit Transfers

Students can apply for credit transfer into the equivalent credits at UT for courses taken at their destination university. However, UT reserves the right to assess and approve for the credit transfers depending on the course content, duration and modular credits etc, and not all credits would be approved for credit transfers. Therefore, students are encouraged to build their own study plan carefully, and as soon as you have decided on the courses to take, check with UT to make sure that those courses meet your graduation requirements through the prior credit accreditation system. Upon confirmation of acceptance from the destination university, students are to make their study plans and discuss it with their respective Academic Advisor.

*Students can gain certification of no more than 23 credit points.
