Course: Case Study—Public-Private Partnerships: Theory, Practice, and Cases

Course No. 5140489 Summer 2013

Instructor: Toshiro Nishizawa

Subject: Program for Day 3 (April 15, 2013) and Assignments

Dear Students,

Program for Day 3 is as follows:

1. Brief review of the key concepts we discussed on Day 2
2. Lecture on risk management
3. Discussion

The following materials are distributed:

1. Course memorandums dated April 14 and April 15, 2013
2. Lecture note dated April 15, 2013
3. Power point presentation dated April 15, 2013
4. Reading 3: Chan APC, Lam PTI, Chan DWM & Cheung E (2008). Risk-sharing mechanism for PPP projects—the case study of the Sydney Cross City Tunnel. Surveying and Built Environment, Volume 19 (1)
5. Reading 4: World Bank (1998). Contingent liabilities—a threat to fiscal stability. Prem Notes Number 9, November 1998

You are required to read Reading 4 before Day 4 (April 20)—this is the first assignment for all the students in this course. As requested earlier, please keep searching the website for an article or paper on PPPs which attracts your attention and is of your interest. You are required to submit a copy of the article or paper to me by Day 5 (April 22) at the latest.

Furthermore, you are required to submit on Day 5 (April 22) a short summary (up to 200 words) of whatever subjects on PPPs you are interested in as candidate topics tentatively for your presentation and paper. Please find attached a sample form to be used for this assignment. All the summaries will be shared among the students to help you find issues of common interest and form groups.

On Day 4 (April 20), we will meet at 13:00 (NOT at 14:00) in Room Ad 3 (NOT in Room Law 26).

Best regards,

Toshiro Nishizawa
