

Dear Sir / Madame,

We sincerely invite you and students in your university to participate in the 1st Global Initiatives Symposium in Taiwan (GIS Taiwan), 6-12th July 2009.

GIS Taiwan aims at providing a platform for global interaction among potential future leaders, governments, enterprises and the third sector. We anticipate gathering graduate and undergraduate students around the world to exchange innovative ideas on different topics. Further, through discussing feasible and effective approaches to the challenges and trends the global community faces, we wish to see actions being taken in a sure footed manner.

The topic of the conference in 2009 is "Challenges and Opportunities, the Global Economy in the Transition Phase." There are three subtopics as follows, 1) Bliss or Misery—Contemplating the Engagement of Cultural Forms and Economic Progress; 2) Rethinking of corporate social responsibility and social entrepreneurship; 3) Find the next wave to ride—new business strategies in the changing world.

The participants should compose an essay (about 2000 words) according to the subtopics mentioned above before they obtain the qualification to attend GIS Conference. The scope of GIS will be 80 participants. In addition, high school students might be able to become observers of the GIS Conference.

For registration and contact information, please see the attached file and go to our website: <http://gis-taiwan.ntu.edu.tw>. It would be greatly appreciated if you can help putting up our posters on campus. Thank you, and hope to hear from you soon!

Best Regards,
