APEC
VOICES
OF THE FUTURE 2013

A Special Report on the APEC Voices of the Future 2013, Nusa Dua, Bali, Indonesia

Leaders from the 21 APEC Economies gathered in Bali, Indonesia for the APEC Leaders' Week hosted by H.E. Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono, President of the Republic of Indonesia.

APEC Leaders' Week 2013

The Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) has functioned as a unique forum in which leading business and political leaders from the 21 APEC member economies come together to further enhance economic cooperation and growth for the Asia Pacific region through consensus. The APEC framework has helped facilitate cooperation and expand trade and investments throughout the region and beyond.

During the annual APEC Leaders' Week, APEC leaders took the opportunity of this platform to interact with each other, discussing and ironing out trade and investment issues in an open and forthright manner.

The Summit was held in the beautiful island of Bali and hosted by H.E. Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono, President of the Republic of Indonesia, who showed great leadership and sincerity in providing an environment conducive to achieving objectives that will benefit the Asia Pacific region.

Throughout the APEC Leaders' Week 2013, heads of government, trade, economics and finance ministers from the 21 APEC member economies, together with many of the world's most influential corporate titans and Chief Executive Officers, gathered to discuss and work out a broad framework towards sustainable growth and development, which aims to benefit all the generations to come in the Asia Pacific region.

APEC Voices of the Future 2013

APEC Voices of the Future, which is the main platform for 'Youth Voice' at the annual APEC Summit, was held in conjunction with the APEC Leaders' Week and the APEC CEO Summit from 2 to 8 October 2013 in Bali, Indonesia. More than 130 APEC Voices educators and youth delegates from 17 APEC member economies, namely Australia, Brunei Darussalam, Canada, People's Republic of China, Chinese Taipei, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Mexico, New Zealand, Peru, Philippines, Russia, Singapore, Thailand, United States of America and Vietnam, gathered in Bali to engage business and political leaders from the 21 APEC member economies.

H.E. President Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono arriving at the The APEC Leaders' Retreat with APEC Leaders.

"Our theme, 'Resilient Asia-Pacific-Engine of Global Growth,' is all about drawing on our strengths. Our objective is to make the region the epicentre for the world's economic advancement. And in that light, Indonesia has set three priorities for the APEC year: 'Attaining the Bogor Goals', Achieving Sustainable Growth with Equity' and 'Promoting Connectivity'. I believe that through close collaboration with the business community, APEC can achieve these priorities."

The Indonesian government, APEC Host Committee 2013 and ABAC Indonesia provided the APEC Voices delegates with excellent hospitality with VIP status throughout the whole APEC week. H.E. Gita Irawan Wirjawan, Minister of Trade of the Republic of Indonesia, extended a very warm welcome to the APEC Voices delegates and called upon the youth delegates, who represent the next generation of leaders, to take up the responsibility of promoting a stronger regional economy among the APEC member economies. He strongly believed that through the friendship, better understanding and bonds forged between delegates from the different economies during the APEC week, the APEC Voices of the Future delegates would grow to be connected leaders of tomorrow who will be well-placed to play key roles in creating a better world in line with the goals of APEC. He emphasised how the APEC Summit provides an excellent platform and opportunity for youth who are future leaders to cement the already good relations among the 21 APEC member economies even more.

The APEC Voices of the Future 2013 programme also received a very strong endorsement and support from Wishnu Wardhana, Chair, APEC Business Advisory Council 2013, and Chair, APEC CEO Summit 2013, of the Republic of Indonesia. The strong support from Mr Wardhana, who is also the President Director and Group Chief Executive Officer of PT Indika Energy Tbk, was evident, and he was a key contributor to the success of the APEC Voices of the Future 2013 in Bali, Indonesia. Mr Wardhana not only assigned his staff from PT Indika Energy Tbk to serve as members of the APEC Voices 2013 Working Committee, he also personally oversaw the implementation of the APEC Voices 2013 day-to-day program in spite of his very hectic schedule during the APEC Summit 2013.

The APEC Voices 2013 also received strong support from H.E. Made Mangku Pastika, Governor of Bali, who invited the youth delegates not just to attend the meetings during the APEC week, but also to find time to explore the natural beauty, nice weather and unique culture of Bali. More importantly, the youth also had the opportunity to get to know the friendly people of Bali better through these activities.

Dr Alan Bollard, Executive Director, APEC Secretariat, supported the APEC Voices programme as it offers an opportunity for youth leaders to engage and have dialogues with key policymakers and business leaders in one of the most dynamic regions in the world. He welcomed the perspectives and active participation of the youth at the APEC week in Bali.

Visit to the Green School

The Green School in Bali is an international school offering preschool to high school education. Its goal is to be the model of sustainability education in the world. With striking bamboo architecture and a solar-powered campus that spans 20 acres, the school has attracted 333 students from more than 45 countries seeking a unique, nature-based, student-centered education.

"We had an amazing week in Bali. It was an experience like no other. We experienced more of Indonesia and now better understand its tradition, culture and history. We had exclusive access to the APEC Summit where we got to learn from extraordinary panel sessions, connect with high level officials and business leaders, and share our views of business and politics with APEC leaders. This programme has helped us become not just the Voices of the Future but has given us the experience to be the Voices of Today."

Gillian Fong- McMaster
Team Leader, APEC Voices delegation, Canada

APEC Voices delegates were given a tour of the school and were briefed on its mission and activities by the founder John Hardy. APEC Voices delegates gained firsthand experience of how environmental sustainability is practiced in real life. Youth delegates also took advantage of the ambience to discuss and prepare the APEC Voices 2013 Youth Declaration.

Visit to Kamasan Art Village

The visit to Kamasan Art Village was one of the highlights of the APEC Voices 2013. APEC Voices delegates received a very warm welcome from the villagers and community leaders upon their arrival. Kamasan Village is a centre of Balinese traditional painting and sculpting and is located in Klungkung District. The APEC Voices delegates were given the rare treat of learning Balinese traditional painting under the watchful eyes of two famous artists. It was a fascinating experience painting Balinese traditional paintings under Indonesia's highly skilled artisans.
